Rae Khan . Jarvis Consulting

My name is Rae Khan, I have recently joined Jarvis as a Data Engineer and would like to introduce myself. I have earned a Bachelors of Aerospace Engineering from Ryerson University. Throughout my academic career, I became proficient at MATLAB coding and within the last several years, Ive honed my software skills. Ive completed courses on platforms such as Udemy and edX in topics such as VBA programming and SQL. In my previous position, I worked as a Python Instructor. I taught various students the basics of Python, such as syntax, data types, and functions. Additionally, I recently completed a Web Development Bootcamp at Lighthouse Labs gaining additional software skills such as JavaScript, HTML, and CSS. I look forward to expanding my software skillset with Jarvis.
